3. Using Google Transit Trip Planner.

Google Transit can help you plot your trip from home to school and back:

- Visit gpmetrobus.com and look for Trip Planner (on left) or go directly to Google Transit/Portland.
- Type in your address (FROM), high school name (TO). Click Get Directions.
- Google Transit will report the walking pathway to the nearest bus stop, one (or more) bus route options and the walking pathway to the destination.
- Look for the "Schedule Explorer" link to set trip preferences including date, time of day, less walking, fewest transfers and fastest route. Set date to a school day and the times to before/after bell times to properly access all possible bus trips.
- Always check Google Transit results against the printed schedule, especially when a transfer between buses is necessary. Google Transit is very conservative when charting transfers, so check the schedule to confirm.
